This Auto Auth account is required by the car manufacturer when scanning 2018 and later FCA vehicles including Dodge, Chrysler, Jeep, Alfa Romeo, Fiat, that have a secure gateway module on the vehicle. Without authorised access, you are limited to read DTC's only and cannot perform functions like clear DTC's, actuations, special functions etc.

The following procedure is the setup process to register an account with them to open up full diagnostic access on their vehicles.

Sign up Tips: During registration process. FCA will charge USD$50 to setup a basic account for a 12 month period. This is all that is required.

There is one selection where you can only select North America or Europe. (select North America at this point). Otherwise just enter your full Australian address details when requested.

Also be sure to select the 'Stellantis' check box when asked during account creation.

Once logged in and account is paid (USD$50), select Manage Tools.

Select Manufacturer = EZDS

Select Tool Model = Zenith Z7 (Enter the ZVCi2 serial number found on the back of the ZVCi2 interface – e.g SD000), then Add Tool.

The Zenith Z7 serial number should now show in your current tool list.

Now simply connect the Z7 to the car, be connected to the internet, and when prompted, enter your Auto Auth login email and password you created when the account was opened.
